BILLION DOLLAR INDUSTRY INVESTMENT PRODUCT
NOW AVAILABLE IN CANADA; A SECRET NO MORE

Sandor Capital Corporation launches new and secure life settlement product with unmatched returns available to Canadian investors for the first time

BURLINGTON, Ontario – Sandor Capital Corporation has launched a new alternative investment product guaranteed to interest even the most seasoned investors, providing unmatched returns and zero volatility.

Sandor’s Limited Partnership investing in Life Settlements is a new product, not previously available in Canada but wildly successful in the United States, and part of a growing sector designed to send the investment community spinning.

“Our product is catching on like an epidemic,” says Mr. Jason Moos, CEO of Sandor Capital Corporation. “From major financial institutions to boutique firms to individual investors, people are instantaneously intrigued.

“Mr. Warren Buffet has purchased more than $800 million in life settlements,” notes.
Moos. “For someone who has built his fortune and wealth primarily turning to invest in Life Settlement points to the legitimacy, stability and profitability of this lucrative investment. While last year in the United States $18 billion (face value) in Life Settlements were sold on the secondary market, projections for 2007 have the industry hitting $45 billion. Yearly growth is booming and, coupled with their non-volatility to capital markets and other various security advantages, I challenge people to find any major disadvantages with a Limited Partnership of this kind.”

What is a life settlement investment? “A person who is going to sell their life insurance policy has two options,” explains Moos. “The first is to surrender it back to their insurer and receive a cash settlement of approximately 5-10 per cent of its face value or the second is to sell the policy on the secondary market to investors paying approximately 30 per cent (of face value) in cash to the current policy holder. The Limited Partnership then retains the policy until it matures, providing a pay out of the actual full face value.” It should be noted all life insurance policies purchased by the Limited Partnership are American in origin, and possess a quality rating of A- or higher by A.M. Best or its industry equivalent.
Viewing the current investment marketplace as somewhat stagnant, Sandor is out to change the landscape from traditional investments – stocks, bonds, mutual funds and GIC’s – to highly advantageous alternative investments. Moos is quick to point out that stocks, bonds, mutual funds and GIC’s can indeed be prosperous but with a lower Return on Investment (ROI) in most cases, whereas life settlements have proved a solid and attainable ROI with unmatched security.

“The life settlement industry has hit the ground running,” enthuses Moos. “Now it’s the Canadian investor’s turn to cash in on this huge growth and security.”

• Various detailed studies, including Warton School of Business, Bernstein Research and Conning and Co. have given the financial sector tremendous confidence in the life settlement industry.
